In the wall-covering world, a young Italian company is drawing attention thanks to its graphic and functional research: Glamora. A laboratory where art and design, sartorial craftsmanship and digital technology, natural sensations and contemporary lifestyle meet and merge together. From this melting pot and from the collaboration with internationally renowned designers like Doriana and Massimiliano Fuksas, Nigel Coates, Karim Rashid, or with up-and-coming young talents from the world of visual arts and fashion a collection of wall-coverings is brought to life and explores different themes: from the archetypes of classical architecture, to the poetry of nature, to the charm of vintage and pop atmospheres, to the digital art. A versatile and highly aesthetic solution, to feature any domestic, commercial, professional and collective space.

The graphic motifs of Glamora's collection can be printed on different materials, to satisfy every requirement in terms of environment and use: Vinyl wallpaper, suitable for covering the walls of indoor areas in standard conditions. It's fire resistant, washable and environmentally friendly. Glam Acoustic, soundproofing material that improves the acoustic comfort or the new GlamBlue. This innovative waterproof wall covering was specifically designed for bathroom walls, shower stalls, wellness centers, gyms, spas and other wet environments or areas temporarily in contact with water. GlamBlue can be applied on any mural surface, with a minimal preparation, by using the same graphic also inside the shower stall or on the kitchen backsplash. A versatile and modern product that will be officially presented by Glamora at the next Cersaie edition in Bologna (Italy), the important international exhibition dedicated to the coverings and bath furnishing, from the 26th to the 30th of September 2016.
